CARDIOGUIDE™ HF APP

SENSITIVE PERSONAL DATA CONSENT

By clicking "Accept", I explicitly consent to the processing of my personal data, including health-related data (which is considered sensitive data under local data protection legislation) as required by law to monitor and manage the quality of the CardioMEMS™ HF System, to enable Abbott to provide the Services and the App including transmission to the healthcare provider, technical and clinical support for the Services (e.g., debugging, upgrading, and troubleshooting), and to contact you for non-marketing related operational and service-related purposes through the App, push notifications, email by phone messaging (e.g., SMS messaging), or other channels, including to provide service updates, transmission status notices, and safety-related information. In the course of providing support, your personal data (including health-related data) may be accessible by Abbott's remote care teams located in the United States of America and Belgium (and other European countries).

This consent is voluntary. You may withdraw consent at any time within the App or by contacting Abbott at privacy@abbott.com.

If you do not provide this consent, or withdraw your consent, you may lose access to the App and may not be able to receive the Services as Abbott must be able to support the App for safety and operational purposes.